B-283287 IRBs in our sample that were run by universities. In particular, we observed fewer problems with IRB membership, staff, space, and documentation at university-run IRBs than at VA-run IRBs. University-run IRBs were also more likely to conduct thorough and timely continuing reviews than VA-run IRBs. University-run IRBs we visited were not without problems, however. We found that some IRB-approved consent forms at each site omitted required information and some investigators used nonapproved consent forms. We found problems with the content or use of informed consent forms at Informed Consent all of the medical centers we visited. We found that some informed consent documents that had been approved for use by IRBs provided incomplete or unclear information. In addition, we found some studies in which the investigators used nonapproved consent forms when enrolling subjects. We also found one instance in which research was conducted without consent. Informed consent is a primary ethical requirement of...
